

THE QUEEN'S JUBILEE.

LOYAL BRITONS ARRANGING FOR ITS CELEBRATION.

Preparing for Proper Exercises and to Raise Funds for the Occasion—A Proposition to Endow a British Hospital—Committee to Solicit.

The British citizens of Los Angeles met last night at Justice Taney's courtroom for the purpose of taking steps toward celebrating the Queen's Jubilee, which takes place on the 20th of June. British Vice-Consul C. White-Mortimer was elected chairman, and R. L. Ogilvie as secretary.

The chairman read resolutions recently passed by the British Society in San Francisco, calling on the State to cooperate with the society in celebrating the day, and also to raise funds for the purpose of establishing a hospital in San Francisco. He read letters from several prominent British citizens in that city, calling on the residents here to help the cause.

Capt. Elliott spoke in favor of appointing a committee, with power to raise money for celebrating the jubilee, and that all over should go toward establishing a hospital. The chairman thought the meeting should understand before they went any further whether they wanted to make the affair strictly local or not.

Mr. Sumner moved that they act for Los Angeles alone. The motion was carried. Mr. Sumner thought that the Englishmen here should attend to their own people, and let the rich people of San Francisco look after theirs. The speaker stated that he had never yet witnessed a general British celebration in this State, and he was in favor of raising money enough to celebrate, if nothing else, a general celebration.

A motion was then put, to the effect that a committee with power to raise funds for a celebration, and also with power to endow a bed at the Sisters' Hospital in case there is money left over after the celebration. The motion was carried.

WOMEN'S WRANGLES.

Two or Three Enjoy a Spat on Buena Vista Street.

Early yesterday afternoon, as Officer Deckman was walking his beat near the north end of Upper Main street, a woman came running toward him from Buena Vista street and called him to go with her, as his presence was needed. The officer hastened to one of the Mexican houses on Buena Vista street, near High, and found three native women engaged in a general riot. It was an all-round rough-and-tumble, each trying to hurt the other in feminine fashion, scratching and pulling hair, and one of them had a brick for her exclusive use. He separated the angry combatants, but not before there were some blue marks and scratches, and finally pacified them without making arrests. The trouble was wine and a man.

SHE NEEDN'T FEAR.

An Oakland Lady Informed About a Delicate Subject.

THE TIMES is shown a private letter from Oakland which says:

"We received the paper with the snailbox marked, Mamma has been frightened by something else now. Will you please describe your bedbugs? We saw an animal here which was labeled 'second' and 'bug'." It was about two and one-half inches long, including the head, which was about one inch long. The body was brown, the head yellow. It was all covered with a hard shell, like a crab. The head was shaped like a parrot's bill. It was a horrible-looking affair. Mamma says it would be bad enough to get into bed with one of these things, but to have a couple of dozen would be too bad. She says she thinks she will not go to bed until you get rid of some of your natives."

THE TIMES hastens to inform the young lady and her startled parent that the criminalist in Los Angeles is neither a cousin to the two-horned rhinoceros, nor a cross between a hippopotamus and a buzzsaw. What was the "bug" has been brought into this favored clime by people from Sacramento, never touch strangers, since the citizens are so much juicier. These importations from the Northern Citrus Belt are no larger than insects, which she has seen—in museums—in the East. The alleged Los Angeles cimex, which she was shown in Oakland, was doubtless a Florida alligator, shrunken to its present petty proportions in the awful cimate of the N. C. B.

Board of Supervisors.

Board met pursuant to adjournment.

On motion of Supervisor Venable the Assistant District Attorney was requested to consult with Stephen M. White and give a written opinion as to how the board should proceed in reference to the County Tax Collector.

On motion of Supervisor Venable, the office of County Tax Collector was declared vacant, and it was ordered that a committee of three be appointed by the chairman of the board to investigate and take charge of the office of County Tax Collector until the same is filled by appointment. The chairman appointed Supervisors Venable, Macy and Ross as such committee.

William Gardner was appointed bee inspector at a salary of $3 per day when called upon to inspect apiaries.

VOTED FOR BONDS.

San Bernardino Goes Them, Might to Ours.

[San Bernardino Courier, March 27.]

The election yesterday, though it did not call out anything like a full vote, was yet the most important ever held in San Bernardino, when we consider the issue involved. That issue was indeed vital, as on it depended whether San Bernardino was to advance in line with the nineteenth century or to go back to the conditions of the frontier towns of Mexico, where filth, disease and death reign perennially supreme. Had bonds been defeated, the injury to the city would have been incalculable. Immigration would have ceased, progress would have been converted into retrogression, values would have been lowered in nearly every description of property, business would have decreased, and our present prosperity had been transformed into a sluggish stagnation. The injury inflicted would have been irreparable for years at least. San Bernardino would have become a byword, and we would have pointed to the Berks county of Southern California. The men opposed to bonds did their utmost to bring this condition of affairs about. They worked hard and worked late and early to defeat the party of progress. Their failure was so overwhelming that, in all probability, the party of obstruction will never raise its foggy head again in San Bernardino, stamped by the vote of yesterday as the most progressive city of the South, for the failure of the opponents of health, prosperity and progress was even more disastrous than that of their brethren in San Diego. Now, that we have triumphed, however, so brilliantly, we can afford to forgive our misguided fellow-citizens.

But we cannot afford to forget. As it is, the vote of yesterday will be immediately productive of glorious results for this city. People accustomed to enlightened, social and economic conditions will be attracted to us, who had bonds been defeated, would have avoided us as they would the pest-house. Henceforth, this is a modern city thoroughly in support with the enlightened spirit of the age. Henceforth, this will be the healthiest city in California, for with our incomparable climate and scientific sanitary regulations, epidemics can never obtain a footing within our limits. To make San Bernardino the most beautiful city in the South, it is only necessary to keep it clean and to establish good modern streets. The vote of yesterday provides for both. All honor to the great majority of our enlightened and progressive people. They are worthy of their glorious valley and beautiful city, worthy of the splendid career opening to their industry and enterprise. The Courier is proud of them. As we said the other day, we knew they would do their duty to themselves, their families, their friends and the city of their choice. We did not, however, anticipate such an overwhelming triumph. The opponents of progress have not merely been defeated; they have been annihilated. But enough. San Bernardino is now in the saddle, and our word for it, she will make splendid running. The following is the vote:

Sewers, Yes, 475; Streets, Yes, 473.
Sewers, No, 60; Streets, No, 58.

CALICO.

The Outlook in the Great Desert Mining District.

[Calico Print, March 27.]

Last year was the dullest which Calico has experienced since the camp was started. The discharge of the large force of miners on the King mine, only a few being retained for prospecting, and the reduction of forces on other mines, caused a great depression in the business of the town, but still there were but few failures, and most of those parties engaged in business a year ago are yet conducting their enterprises, and when business was at its lowest ebb, and the main street was as quiet as a graveyard, they entertained a hope that times would improve in the near future. The time has finally arrived when the hopes of the patient will soon be realized, and business will once more become lively and money circulate freely. There is something tangible for a foundation to the expectations of the most sanguine. The commencement of work on the foundation of the Oro Grande Company's new sixty-stamp mill speaks volumes in itself. When the mill is completed the company will then have seventy-five stamps to feed with ore, which will require about 200 men to do it. This alone will give a stimulus to the business of the town. When the litigation on the Jenny Lind mine is terminated, fifty or sixty men will be employed there. The Barber Company have been purchasing a number of mining claims in West Calico, and intend to put on a large force of men to keep their fifteen-stamp mill running day and night. In a few months the fifteen-stamp mill of J. S. Doe & Co. will finish crushing the hundreds of tons of ore which they have accumulated on the dumps, and about seventy-five men will be required in place of the few they now employ, to keep the mill in constant operation. The mines of the Silver Odessa Company are attaining such a depth and extent in development that a much larger force will be required to keep their fifteen-stamp mill busy. The various rich strikes by chlorides are operating larger than usual. Rich mines are first brought into notice by the patient and energetic labor of the chlorider, and many of such will swell the already magnificent list of valuable properties. In brief, the prospects of Calico are exceedingly bright, and this fall, at the furthest, will see Calico booming at a degree far ahead of anything she has experienced in the past. Already business is improving in all quarters of the camp, and life and cheerfulness are beginning to take the place of inaction and dejection.

WATERLOO AND HARMONIAL MINES.

A rich strike has been made in the tunnel of the Harmonial No. 1 mine, owned by Bahten & Edwards. This mine adjoins the Waterloo on the west. An immense ledge runs north-west and southeast through the eastern part of the Harmonial No. 1 and the western part of the Waterloo, extending through the center of the Harmonial No. 2, which adjoins the two above mentioned mines on the north. A 700-foot tunnel was started several months ago on the Harmonial No. 1 mine for the purpose of connecting with the main shaft in the Waterloo and giving that mine a convenient outlet. Recently the miners in the tunnel penetrated the ledge, and the other day struck a fine body of ore that averages sixty ounces in silver to the ton. It does not appear to be simply a small pocket, for such pockets are being constantly uncovered, and no notice is taken of the same; but the strike referred to is considered to be an important one, and will greatly enhance the value of the Harmonial No. 1 mine and others in that vicinity. The strike was not unexpected, as that part of the ledge on the Waterloo ground has been yielding large quantities of good ore, and hence all claims located on that ledge would naturally be expected to contain good ore. The group of mines of which the Waterloo is the center ranks among the richest in the camp, and will undoubtedly keep fifty or sixty stamps in operation, and a force of 200 or 300 men at work for a long time, as soon as the mines are sufficiently developed to accommodate that many miners.

THE TAGGART MINE.

The Taggart mine, in East Calico, is now owned by J. Norton and I. Weaver, and recently they gave a lease on the mine to Fred Heber and George Johnson, who have made a rich strike on the ledge, which will average about $75 to the ton. We were shown a fine specimen of the ore, which will assay up in the thousands. Thousands of dollars have been taken from this mine near the surface in the past, but work had been suspended on the mine for some time, as it was supposed the rich pockets had been exhausted, but still there has always been an abundance of low-grade ore in the mine that would pay a company having their own mill to reduce it. The ledge is large and well-defined, and judging from present indications, it contains an extensive deposit of rich ore. A shipment will soon be made to the mill, the returns of which will determine the value of the mine as a chloriding proposition.

IVANPAH AND MESCAL.

The Cambria Mill and Mining Company of Mescal have purchased the mines and mill of the Ivanpah Mill and Mining Company, and intend shortly to make extensive developments on the mines of the old company, which will keep the mill in constant operation and once more make Ivanpah a lively camp. The ten-stamp mill of the Cambria Company at Mescal is kept busy day and night crushing ore from the Cambria mine, which is being systematically developed, and is yielding a large quantity of rich ore. The Waterman mill and mine closed down recently, not for the lack of ore, it is said, but on account of the result of the litigation which has been prosecuted over the property for several years. The hoisting machinery on the mine has been removed to Waterman & Porter's gold mine in San Diego county.

Monrovia.

[Monrovia Planet.]

Pepper trees are planted on a large number of the avenues of Monrovia. The Monrovia school has increased nearly sixty scholars. Application has been made to create a new school district in this neighborhood, after which a new schoolhouse will be built.

A syndicate composed of J. M. Keefe, of Kansas City, Mo.; Dr. McCoy, of Pasadena; Capt. Johnson, of Ft. Dodge, Iowa, and W. N. Monroe, of this place, bought the following pieces of property in the Duarte a few days ago: S. H. Johnson, 25 acres; A. Spence, 48 acres; W. C. Badeau, 20 acres; V. F. Wilby, 20 acres; A. Body, 15 acres; M. Mitchell, 4 acres.

Col. P. C. Baker, of Pasadena, has lately become the possessor of some valuable real estate in Monrovia, having invested $27,000 here in one day last week. Among his purchases were the Hotel Monrovia, 160 feet on Myrtle avenue, for $11,500 cash; 160 feet at the corner of Orange and Myrtle avenues, for $9,000, and three lots at the corner of Myrtle and Lime for a good round sum. The gallant Colonel has secured some very valuable property.

Another large sale has been made of Danite property, in which Monrovia men are interested. A syndicate composed of J. M. Studebaker, of South Bend, Ind.; J. I. Case, of Racine, Wis., and W. N. Monroe, of this place, purchased the following ranches: Smith, 55 acres; Daniels, 32 acres; Parker, 10 acres; Rodgers, 18 acres; Body, 5 acres. It took a heap of money to purchase these properties, but these gentlemen, who are each deeply interested in Monrovia, have "barrels of money" and know that this section is one of the best in the State for investment.

The time has come when Monrovia wants a bank, and she is going to have it. Seeing the necessity of it, some of the enterprising citizens have formed a company, with a net of $200,000 as capital stock, and will commence operations as soon as possible. A magnificent brick building will soon be commenced on Myrtle avenue, the exact location of which has not been decided upon, but probably about the corner of Lime. Among the stockholders are Hon. E. F. Spence, president of the First National Bank, Los Angeles; Judge J. D. Bicknell, J. M. Studebaker, J. I. Case, Racine, Wis.; John Wilde, W. N. Monroe, M. S. Monroe, and others. These gentlemen represent an immense amount of capital, and certainly must feel great confidence in Monrovia, or they would not invest so much money here.

Monrovia is very lucky in securing two such wealthy and influential citizens as J. M. Studebaker, of South Bend, Ind., and J. I. Case, of Racine, Wis. Our statement a short time ago that they would become residents of this beautiful young town was discredited by many, but they were true, nevertheless. These gentlemen have invested about $200,000 in Monrovia real estate, and will both erect handsome residences in the near future, as soon as plans, etc., can be prepared. Mr. Case—who, by the way, is owner of the famous horse Jay-Eye—will build his residence at the foothills, west of the residence of W. N. Monroe, where he has secured five acres of choice land. The new avenue, running north and south, on which Mr. Case will build, has been named J. I. Case, by Mr. Monroe. Two new subdivisions are to be made, which are to be called J. I. Case, and Studebaker. Mr. Studebaker has purchased 58 acres from Dr. Charles Mueller, and 50 acres from E. J. Baldwin, adjoining, and will erect his elegant residence at the foothills, north of where Gen. Pile intends building. These gentlemen have also purchased 30 acres from Monroe, Pile and Root, 10 acres in Monrovia, near the depot, also several town lots, paying as high as $3000 for corners. It is such gentlemen as these that give a community standing and stability—and by the same token, if we had not everything here that mortal man could wish for in a town, such men could not be induced to invest; but we have the location, climate, water, soil, and every other ingredient.

TWO FRIENDS MEET.

"Hello! old fellow. What have you been doing to yourself? You look like a subject for the undertaker," exclaimed the man on the right.
"I have been taking mercury and potash mixtures until they have nearly ruined me," squeaked the old man on crutches.
"And I," said the other, "have been taking the genuine Swift's Specific, which has built me up from the first dose."

SWIFT'S SPECIFIC.
Nature's own remedy, made from roots gathered from the forests of Georgia. The method by which it is made was obtained by a half-breed from the Creek Indians, who inhabited a certain portion of Georgia, which was communicated to one of the early settlers, and thus the formula has been handed down to the present day. The demand has been increasing until a laboratory is now necessary to supply the trade. A foreign demand has been created, and enlarged facilities will be necessary to meet it. This great

The treatment is painless, pleasant and effectual, curing fully 90 per cent. of cases.
Price of treatment, per box, six boxes for $5. Apparatus for spraying same, $5. Treatment used only once per day.

ALAMITOS BEACH TOWNSITE.

This new seaside resort is located on the Pacific Ocean, 22 miles south of Los Angeles, and midway between the port of San Pedro and Anaheim landing. Alamitos joins Long Beach on the east, and has 10 miles of streets, which are to be neatly graded and lined with trees, and will be abundantly supplied with pure artesian water. An extra quantity of pipe clay has been discovered on the townsite, which is now being molded into pipe that is to conduct the water over the town. Three hundred thousand bricks are burned and will soon be used to construct a water reservoir.

The facilities for bathing, fishing and boating are abundantly supplied by the New River and its broad estuaries.

The elevation of Alamitos Beach, giving a commanding view of the ocean, islands, mountains, harbors and towns, together with its beach, which is unrivaled for its bathing and driving facilities, secures it forever a place in the forefront of seaside resorts. Write for agency and maps to

POINTS OF THE MORNING'S NEWS.

Gov. Torres causes the arrest of an editor at Nogales, Ariz. A Scotch yacht to race for the America's cup. A rescue of the survivors of the disabled schooner Marcus Davis. Debate on coercion in the House of Commons. The Chicago Democratic City Convention leaves the nomination of a ticket to a committee of fifty. Miss Calhoun not to marry young Hearst. Bloody fight between cowboys and sheepherders in New Mexico. Four persons burned to death at Ludlowville, N. Y. Arrest of a San José wife-murderer. A big fruit season in California predicted. Annual reports and election of officers of the Bell Telephone Company. Southern Pacific's new freight rates. Results of winter's rigors in Montana. Another priest appointed to jail at Dublin. Notaries submitted by Gov. Bartlett. Earnings of Southern and Union Pacific roads for 1886. Ed Smith, late Assembly Clerk, arrested. A San Francisco high-binder sentenced to be hanged. Proposed railway from Santa Rosa to Green Valley. New York labor organizations preparing a crusade for lower rents. The Attorney-General says the Interstate Commerce Bill's prohibition of free passes does not apply to railway postal service employees. Murder at Volcano, N. M. New railway rates for oranges from Los Angeles. Suicide of an Oregon pioneer. Parnell's appeal to Irishmen in America. Mrs. James Brown-Potter's debut at the Haymarket Theater, London. Death of Gen. Roswell S. Ripley. Effect of the Interstate Commerce Bill on excursion rates to Los Angeles.

THE San Francisco hotels and boarding-houses are full to overflowing, according to press reports.

THE libel suit of M. J. McDonald against the San Francisco Post Publishing Company, which has been pending for nine years, has at last been decided. The plaintiff gets damages in the munificent sum of one dollar (standard).

THE Birmingham (Ala.) Chronicle has this to say concerning the death of Henry Ward Beecher:
"With Greeley and Sumner and Garrison he has gone from among men. Today the venerable old man at his quiet home on the golf coast will read the notices of the death of this, the last of the great minds which conspired to bring on that civil war with all its horrors. God has spared Jefferson Davis to read these obituary notices as some recompense for what he has suffered. The South has no tears for Henry Ward Beecher."

APPROPOS of Commissioner Sparks's war upon timber-thieves, the following advertisement appeared in a little paper in Northwestern Colorado. It breathes an unmistakable defiance at William Andrew Jackson Sparks:

"This is to certify that we are at the old stand, and no son-of-a-gun of a special agent is going to snoop around our ranch. We buy Winchester's cash. We sell all kinds of lumber on time. Our mill is still running up in the La Sals, and our prices are neither higher nor lower than they were before William Andrew Jackson Sparks and the henchmen undertook to reform everything from hell to breakfast. Come and see us. Our pine is on the mesa, and our mill is on the make."

THE sale of the South Pacific Coast Railway, to the Southern Pacific was announced to Col. Fred Crocker in the following words, figures and ciphers:

"To C. F. Crocker, Esq., San Francisco: Have today, beans with barley about oleomargarine and all its mullage. Bandoline, virtue, constancy. C. P. HUNTINGTON."

The Post, with the aid of Col. Crocker, thus unraveled the dispatch:

"The dispatch is partly in cipher. Substitute closed for beans, J. G. Fair for barley, South Pacific Coast Railroad for oleomargarine, and settled for mullage, and the thing is clear. The words bandoline, virtue and constancy have reference to another matter, about which it is not necessary for Mr. Huntington to take the public into his confidence."

Just so!

CONVICTION has followed the trial of Alexander Goldenson, the murderer of the young school-girl, Mamie Kelly, in San Francisco. The charge was fully proven; indeed, there was no serious attempt to dispute the notorious fact of the killing, but the defense was mainly directed to the effort to prove that Goldenson was not in his right mind when the crime was committed. It is the old, old story, told a thousand times in court-rooms for the purpose of saving murderers from the gallows. The case in hand was one of the most unprovoked, brutal and infamous murders written in the annals of crime; and if there ever was a culprit deserving the halter, it is this hardened and reckless slayer of a tender child, whom he had first misled.

The Tsar of Russia.

Nearly all the information given to the public concerning the political and social status existing in Russia comes through German and English sources, and is tinged and colored to suit the purposes of the promulgators. To read the account recently given by telegraph concerning the attempt upon the life of the Emperor Alexander III, the impression is conveyed that revolution is imminent in Russia at any time. This is not a true representation of affairs at St. Petersburg, which is Russia, in the same sense that Paris is France. In Mr. Ballou's new book of travel, "Due-North," just issued from the press, we have the testimony of an impartial and experienced observer upon the subject. The author of this book, who has just returned from the Tsar's dominions, represents that discontent among the mass of the people does not exist to any material extent, and declares that those who represent otherwise are seriously mistaken. It is the few scheming, partially educated, idle, disappointed and useless members of society who ferment revolution in Russia—people who have everything to gain by public agitation and panic, men actuated by the same spirit as those who were so lately condemned to death for wholesale murder in our own country. Nineteenth and more of the people of Russia, according to Mr. Ballou, are loyal to "Father, the Tsar," loyal to his family and dynasty. Nihilism is almost entirely stimulated from without; even in the present instance the German police had given timely warning that an attempt was to be made upon the life of the Tsar, which, doubtless, was the means in part of frustrating any fatal results.

England, says Mr. Ballou, is more seriously torn by internal dissensions today than is Russia, and the German people have a great deal more cause for dissatisfaction with their government than have the Russian. To hold up the latter government as being immaculate would be the grossest folly, but for foreigners to represent it to be so abhorrent, as has long been the fashion to do, is equally inconsistent and unjust. Nihilism means nothingness, and never was the purpose of a mad revolutionary combination more appropriately named. The very title which these restless spirits have assumed is an argument against them. Some of them have grown sensitive as to having the name of Nihilists applied to them, and prefer that of Communists or Socialists, synonymous designations already rendered odious in Europe and America. When Elliott, the Corn-law rhymist, was asked, "What is a Communist?" he answered: "One who has yearnings for equal division of unequal earnings. Idler or burglar, he is willing to fork out his penny and pocket your shilling."

European Socialism, Mr. Ballou declares, is the very embodiment of selfishness; its aim is that of legalized plunder; the Nihilists are simply striving to force upon an unwilling people the fastidious freedom of anarchy. Communists, Socialists, Nihilists, by whatever name they be called, are disciples of destruction. Just after the terrible explosion in the Winter Palace of St. Petersburg, not long ago, two of the conspirators met in St. Isaac's Square. "Is all blown up?" asked one of the other. "No," was the reply, "the globe remains." "Then let us blow up the globe," added the other. When these conspirators are discovered, as was the case of those lately detected in an attempt to burn the city of Vienna, they are found to be composed of escaped convicts, forgers, murderers and the like, who naturally array themselves against all law and order.

It was not when Russia was little better than a military despotism under the Emperor Nicholas that Nihilism showed its cloven foot. Alexander II was assassinated in the streets of St. Petersburg after the millions of grateful serfs had been given their liberty, the press granted greater freedom of discussion, the stringent laws mitigated, when the country was upon its slow but sure progress toward constitutional government. The inference is clear; he who runs may read. National progress and freedom is not what these Anarchists desire; they seek wholesale destruction.

A fresh scandal has lately been started in the columns of the European press, notably in England and Germany, that the Tsar is addicted to gross intemperance, and may at any time in a moment of excess plunge headlong into a foreign war. Of course, says Mr. Ballou, no casual visitor to Russia can obtain competent evidence to the contrary, but it was that gentleman's privilege to see Alexander III on several occasions and at different periods of the day, and he was each time strongly impressed with a very different estimate of his habits. He says the Emperor presents no aspect of excess of any sort, but on the contrary appears like one conscious of his great responsibility, and actuated by a calm resolve to fulfill its requirements. The words he spoke to the students of the Russian university, as reported by cable to yesterday's TIMES, do not indicate a mind diseased or a temper torn beyond repair.

THE Association of the Army of the Tennessee (Confederate) has issued circular invitations from its headquarters, in New Orleans, announcing that the 6th of April, 1887, the twenty-fifth anniversary of the death of Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston, has been fixed upon for the unveiling of the equestrian statue in bronze of that soldier, which is to surmount the tomb of the association in the Metairie Cemetery, New Orleans. The ceremonies will occur at about the hour of the day when he received the wound on the bloody field of Shiloh, which resulted in his death. A general invitation is extended to the people of the country to cooperate in making the occasion a success. Walter H. Rogers is president, and C. H. Tebbutt, M.D., corresponding secretary of the association, Lafayette Square, New Orleans.

THE RAILROADS.

Interesting Pointers from Southern California Lines.

An inaccurate evening paper, which gets its railroad news with the shears only, announces that W. A. Bissell has been appointed general western agent of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé, and that "it is not yet stated what position will be given John L. Truslow, late," etc. Mr. Bissell has resigned his latest position as general freight and passenger agent of the Atlantic and Pacific, and will on the 1st of April begin the duties of general agent of the same road, the position which he originally held. He has no connection whatever with the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé. The office of general freight and passenger agent of the Atlantic and Pacific has been abolished, and that of division freight and passenger agent established. W. B. Biddle has been appointed to this position, with headquarters at Albuquerque. He was one of Bissell's clerks, but now ranks his ex-superior. As for John L. Truslow, he is still general western passenger agent of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé, and is apt to remain so. He has been with the road eleven years, and is not likely to lose his place in a hurry.

PLEISTOCENE TIES.

The San Gabriel Valley Railroad people are perfectly happy now. The ship Greenwood arrived from the north yesterday 10,000 ties for the road, and the work of putting them in place will be commenced at once. The company has had a great deal of trouble in getting the ties, and the extending the road has been greatly delayed.

SPIKES.

John L. Truslow went back to San Francisco yesterday.

Chief Engineer Fred T. Perris, of the California Southern Railroad, was in the city yesterday, as full of business as ever. The Southern Pacific pay-car came in Monday night, and during yesterday was making the boys happy by the distribution of ducats to the employees.

FATHER PETER.

The Good Old Priest Recovering from His Accident.

THE TIMES last night enjoyed a call from Fr. Peter Verdugue, the widely-beloved pastor of the old Church of Our Lady of Angels. He is pretty well recovered from his accident of a week ago yesterday at San Gabriel, but his left shoulder and side are still very painful. His escape from death or broken bones is almost miraculous. The buggy was overturned with such force that Fr. Peter's head was driven through the top, and his neck was tightly imprisoned by the framework, while the horse was dragging the wreck along. Fr. Peter says: "I do not know how I was saved, unless that God gave me strength to hold fast to the lines. How I came to pull harder on the left line than on the right, I do not know; but I did it, until the horse was forced around so hard that one of the shafts was driven five inches into his body. Then he fell, and some one came running, and finally they got us out."

NAUGHTY NIKLAUS.

Charges of Embezzlement Piling Up Against Him.

Charles Niklaus, the collector who was arrested the other day at the instance of W. R. Burk and charged with having embezzled $14 belonging to his employer, seems to be getting himself deeper in the mire. The case was called in Justice Tague's court, and the District Attorney stated that other sums had been taken by Niklaus in amounts enough to make the crime a felony. It seems that he has been out of the employ of Mr. Burk for some weeks, during which time he has collected a large sum of money—the exact amount cannot be ascertained at present—and applied it to his own use. The case was continued until next Monday morning to give the District Attorney a chance to thoroughly investigate the matter and get out another complaint, if necessary.

A DILUTED MILKMAN.

Why He Didn't Deliver His Milk Last Night.

Early last evening, Ferdinand Lowing, the milkman, was found on Sixth street by Officers Botello and Severich. He was in a state that always follows a free use of calumny-water drinking, and did not seem to care whether his customers were served or not. The officers soon discovered that his horses were trying their best to deliver the milk. They were seen dashing up and down various streets, and it took some very responsible nursing on the part of the officers to bring them to a standstill. No damage was done, but Lowing will have a chance to explain to Justice Austin this morning why he did not deliver his milk.

Very Drunk.

A man sitting on a beer-keg in front of the Union Saloon, on Alameda street, yesterday afternoon, with a big pool of blood at his feet, attracted a lot of men. Officer Methvin investigated, and found the man so drunk that he could not walk, and did not know his own name. He had fallen on the sidewalk and cut his face and jammed his nose till it swelled out like a boiled potato. This was the cause of his blood-letting. The officer signalled a passing express wagon, got the man into it, and had him hauled up and locked up as a drunk.

SANGUINARY AFFAIR.

Bloody Fight Between Cowboys and Sheepherders in New Mexico.

ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.), March 29.—[By the Associated Press.] Intelligence of a fearful fight between cowboys and sheepherders near Grant Station, on the Arizona line, has reached this city. It appears that the sheepmen were watering their flocks at a water hole when four cowboys came on the scene and ordered the sheepmen away. The herders refused to leave until their flocks were watered. Hot words followed, when the herders say the cowboys ran a few yards and opened fire with their Winchester. The first shot killed the leader of the herders. The rest of the herders, being exasperated at the treatment received from the cowboys, returned the fire, wounding a cowboy. The cowboys then fired a second volley, wounding three more herders, and then rode off at the top of their horses' speed toward the Arizona line. The man who was killed was named Justus Montano, and has been in the service of Apodaca Bros., owners of the sheep, for many years. Another herder, named Jesus Maria Chavez, died from his wounds, having been shot through both hips. A strong posse has gone out after the murderers, who, not having much of a start, are likely to be caught.

Wyatt came to the place at this moment and threatened to shoot both constable and Dula. The latter proceeded to the justice's office to swear out a warrant against Wyatt, when Wyatt came in and attempted to shoot Dula. The latter then shot the would-be assailant.

WASHINGTON.

A Circular from Vilas to Railway Postal Employees—Funds for the New Soldiers' Home—Cabinet Meeting.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—[By the Associated Press.] The Postmaster-General has issued the following circular, addressed to division superintendents and inspectors and other officers and employees of the Railway Mail Service:

"The attention of this department has been invited by the officers of many railroad companies to the Interstate Commerce Act, with the inquiry how far those provisions which they have deemed restrictive of free travel affect persons in the employ of the postal service. The correspondence has almost universally contained expressions of willingness to continue the facilities heretofore afforded, unless such course be in contravention of law. In order to obtain a satisfactory exposition of this point the opinion of the Attorney-General was solicited as to whether there be anything in the act which prohibits the practices heretofore prevailing. The Attorney-General's opinion is that the Interstate Act does not affect the postal service, but is a regulation of commerce only."

In his decision the Attorney-General says that the Postoffice Department is authorized by law to send officers, agents and clerks of the Government to take charge of, protect and distribute the mails, and to search for and investigate errors, frauds and crimes relating to them, and such persons are unaffected by the terms of this act.

SIGNS OF INSANITY.

The Unfortunate Josie Bloomfield Cannot Be Found.

Josie Bloomfield, the Pomona girl, who has made herself notorious during the past few days, has again created a sensation. Late Monday night, she left the house, 30 Sepulveda street, and wandered about the streets several hours, trying to get some one to find her a room. Finally she met one of Lucas's detectives, on Los Angeles street, and he secured a room for the poor girl in a lodging-house on that street. She stated to the officer that she did not know what kind of a house she was going to when she went to No. 30 Sepulveda street, and was very anxious to have the officer get her trunk and baggage out of the Sepulveda street house. Yesterday she could not be found, and it is thought by the officers that her troubles have driven her to insanity. At any rate it is a case that will bear investigation.

THE NEW LAW.

Puzzles of the Interstate Commerce Act.

Doubts as to Its Effect on Excursion Rates to Los Angeles.

What General Manager Towne Thinks of the Question.

He Says the Southern Pacific Company Will Put a

Most Liberal Construction on the Law, and Thinks its Working Will Be Short-lived.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—[Special.] One section, or, rather, a possible application of the Interstate Commerce Bill, is likely to affect Los Angeles more than any other point on the Pacific coast. It is that regarding excursion rates. At the recent conference of railroad managers at Chicago this point was discussed. They did not reach any definite conclusion, but they were of the general opinion that the bill did not, and was not intended to, interfere with excursion parties at reduced rates. The officials of the Southern Pacific Company are of the opinion that the rate of $60 for the round trip to the Pacific coast from Missouri River points, and $80 for the round trip from Chicago to the coast, tickets to be good for six months, will hold, under the general understanding of the law. In fact, eight excursions are booked to come to California next month. The Raymond & Whitcomb parties will continue, but all parties must pay the same rates, and there will be no favored classes. The Canadian Pacific and Pacific Mail are claimed to be outside of the provisions of the bill. Railroad officials have little to say that is definite concerning the probable effect of the bill. Freight rates are expected to be higher. There is nothing in the bill which prevents the running of excursions from the Pacific coast to Missouri River points on the same rates as for excursions west from the river.

General Manager A. N. Towne, of the Southern Pacific, was asked concerning the law this morning. He said: "There is a disposition on the part of the Southern Pacific Company to give a most liberal construction to the application of the Interstate Law, and we feel quite confident that the same general sentiment prevails with the management of all lines in transcontinental business, but in the face of the heavy and cumulative penalties imposed in case of violation of the law, it is of the utmost importance for the companies to pursue a conservative and safe course in the construction of its provisions, until such time as the law is more clearly defined by the commissioners, to whom the companies will appeal in the confident hope and expectation that the people and roads will not be long embarrassed by the working of the law. A tariff constructed for the interior business of the continent is not consistent with the requirements of business between here and the Atlantic seaboard, and it is hoped that the commissioners will at once recognize the principle that the transportation lines have a right to issue a through tariff which will meet the competition of agencies not answerable to the law." As to whether the law prevents competitive overland rates, there is a difference of opinion. In fact, there are as many different views of the law as there are clauses in it.

NOTES FROM ABROAD.

The English Government Inquiry into Pasteur's Methods.

LONDON, March 29.—[By cable and the Associated Press.] Rt. Hon. Lord John Manners, vice-president of the Committee of the Council on Agriculture, stated, in response to interrogations in the House of Commons this afternoon, that the governmental inquiry into Pasteur's method of inoculation of cattle for the prevention of anthrax and other diseases, was making progress, but the results so far obtained would not justify the Department of Agriculture in recommending farmers to inoculate according to Pasteur's system.

MRS. POTTER'S THEATRICAL DEBUT.

CRUSHING COERCION.

Gladstone's Heavy Blows for the Irish Cause

Producing Telling Results Throughout Great Britain.

The Liberals Now Hope to Defeat the Measure.

Parnell Again Appeals to this Country for Support in the Struggle—Encouraging Reply from the American League—Another Irish Priest Sent to Jail.

By Telegram to The Times.

LONDON, March 29.—[By Cable and the Associated Press.] Gladstone resumed the debate on the Irish Criminal Law Amendment Bill. He was loudly cheered when he rose. He said that an issue on grave proposals as those now put forth by the government required ample time for consideration. He found himself bound to support Parnell's amendment, because the ground on which Balfour based the government's case was absolutely insufficient and unsatisfactory. The government's bill, instead of being a cure for Irish ills, or even a palliative, would aggravate the deep-seated and worst disorders. With this coercion bill, exclaimed Gladstone, the prospect of conciliation vanished into air. The government intended to exclude the Land Bill, which was the main recommendation of the commission which has just completed an exhaustive investigation of Irish ills. Nothing remains but the figure of coercion, bare and gaunt. Alas, a familiar sight! Every Irish and English member should have the fullest information for presenting his views (cheers) and for scrutinizing the proposals of the government. Among the most interesting and expediting proposals, the worst ever submitted to Parliament, was the provision that Irish trials be held in London. He never knew such a brutal feeling as that of Ireland. The government could devise nothing more likely to aggravate every existing evil. As to the permanent duration of this bill, the proposal made the Irish blood boil. To establish what was formerly only a temporary remedy as a permanent rule of existence of society in Ireland would put a brand of inferiority upon Ireland forever, recognizing as a fixed principle that force was the remedy.

The lesson of many Irish events showed that force was no remedy. Since the election of 1885, since the bulk of the Liberals had judged it both right and safe to grant home rule, Ireland had been free from crime and outrage—a condition long unknown. Why was this? Because the Irish people knew that a large though insufficiently large body of legislators represented their interests, and would abide by them to the last. (Cheers.) If the Liberals acceded to the appeals of the government, the result would be retrogression. The Irish people would return to the state of things which the Liberals' efforts had already partly remedied. As long as Ireland continued in the present course of moderation, so long would the Liberals be bound to persevere in the endeavor to assist her. The time would soon come when to the many supporting the cause of Ireland would be added many more; when deplorable proposals, such as these of the government, would no more be associated with the name of Ireland, and when it would be seen that in doing what they could now to serve the Irish cause they were observing the cause of the wide Empire of Great Britain. (Prolonged cheering.)

Mr. Goschen taunted Gladstone with his alliance with the National League. He asked him how he would continue to demand the league's constantly-increasing demands until absolute separation should be completed. Everything but the allies of the league considered the state of Ireland intolerable.

COMMENTS ON GLADSTONE'S SPEECH.

Gladstone's speech is widely commented upon as an effective exposure of the feebleness of the government's reasons for demanding coercion. The strength of his reasoning is admitted by the Conservatives and felt keenly by the Unionists and Liberals, more of whom have threatened to secede, unless the Coercion Bill be reduced to a simple provision against boycotting and the plan of campaign.

The Conservatives already talk of dropping the proposals relating to the transfer of jury trials, especially since the Unionist papers in the provinces declare it untenable. Gladstone renewed his defiance of the government to attempt to enforce the clause.

THE OPPOSITION HOPEFUL.

The Gladstonians are confident they can delay the passage of the bill until May, and in the meanwhile are hopeful that a revolution of events will throw the whole scheme. The whips on each side have forbidden members to be absent during the holidays unless paired. The radical societies throughout the country are passing resolutions against the Coercion Bill, pronouncing it impolitic and unjust. The English radical press denounces the measure in language of passionate indignation.

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "Such a measure subjects a nation, white-skinned, Christian and civilized, to arbitrary interference, without elementary liberty and rights."

ANOTHER PRIEST SENT TO JAIL.

DUBLIN, March 29.—Fr. Ryan, of the Herbertstown branch of the National League, presented himself today before Justice Bord, of the Bankruptcy Court. He persisted in his refusal to the court what he knew about the doings of tenants in his parish, respecting the disposal of their rents under the plan of campaign, and was condemned to prison. When Fr. Ryan emerged from the court a prisoner, he was met by a multitude of citizens. They cheered the priest with enthusiastic and prolonged applause. They followed him in procession to jail, making his tour a triumphant one. A number of prominent men took part in this procession, and among the more conspicuous were Lord Mayor Sullivan and Archbishop Croke.

THE LEAGUE AROUSED.

Parnell's Appeal to Irishmen in America Against the Bill.

LONDON, March 29, 1887.

To Hon. John Fitzgerald, Lincoln, Neb.: The Coercion Bill proposed tonight in the House of Commons is the eighty-seventh since the Act of Union, eighty-seven years ago. It is also the most stringent, tyrannical and unequalled by the state of affairs in Ireland. Never before has a coercion bill been proposed when crime was so rapidly decreasing, as compared with previous years. The measure is aimed against all open agitation, and appears to be expressly designed for driving discontent beneath the surface. It places all public speakers, writers and conductors of newspapers absolutely at the mercy of stipendiary magistrates, holding their office at the pleasure of the CHICAGO, March 29.—[By the Associated Press.] The Democratic City Convention did not meet till 11 p.m., and shortly after 3 o'clock adjourned without being able to decide upon a head for the ticket. The only provision made was to authorize Chairman Hoffman of the convention to appoint a committee of fifty Democrats to nominate a ticket. When the convention adjourned Chairman Hoffman hurriedly withdrew to a private apartment, where he called to his aid several prominent Democrats. After a three-hours conference a committee of fifty Democrats was selected to meet tomorrow evening, and nominate a ticket. The list contains the names of many of the most prominent Democratic business men in the city, but no element of the party is wholly neglected. Each of the three newspapers having Democratic leanings has its editors called to act as members of the committee.

SAVED FROM THE SEA.

Rescue of the Survivors of a Dis-masted Vessel.

NEW YORK, March 29.—[By the Associated Press.] St. Selby, arrived today from Lisbon, reports that he landed, on March 24th, a waterlogged and dismasted vessel. A boat was lowered, though the sea was very heavy, and into it clambered the mate and four seamen. After several attempts the vessel was boarded. The captain and second mate were the only survivors, the mate, steward and two colored seamen having died on the previous night. The two survivors were almost exhausted. They were not able to talk, and had to be hoisted on board the Scotchboy. They had been lashed for forty-eight hours on top of a fly-house without food or water, and their clothing was torn to rags. The vessel was the schooner Marcus Davis, Capt. Williams, from Ferdinand for Philadelphia.

Scottish Yachtsmen Anxious to Compete for the Trophy.

NEW YORK, March 29.—[By the Associated Press.] The steamer Etruria, which arrived yesterday, brought a long letter and sundry official documents from the secretary of the Royal Clyde Yacht Club to the secretary of the New York Yacht Club, making a challenge in due form on behalf of the new Scotch cutter yacht Thistle, owned by James Ball, of Glasgow, to race with any American yacht for the America's cup, the international emblem, for which the Puritan and the Genesee sailed last season. The committee in charge of the cup met today, and in effect accepted the challenge, though it will have to go before the club for ratification.

A HARD WINTER.

Great Losses of Cattle and Horses on Montana Ranges.

CHICAGO, March 29.—[By the Associated Press.] The Inter Ocean's Bozeman (Mont.) special says: "Now that winter has to all appearances passed, we can approximate very closely the actual mortality among range stock. The death rate among cattle especially is wonderful. There is no doubt at all that fully one-half of the cattle on ranges throughout the Territory have perished during the past severe winter. There is not a single range on which the death-rate is not fully that great, and on a great many of them it will equal 75 per cent. With sheep and horsemen the loss is not near so heavy as among cattlemen, but still the loss is great among horses and sheep. On some ranges it is reported that one-half of the horses have died and that sheep are still dying by hundreds."

THE BELL TELEPHONE.

Annual Report of its Finances—Directors Elected.

BOSTON, March 29.—[By the Associated Press.] The annual report of the directors of the Bell Telephone Company, submitted today, shows an increase of 9918 subscribers, as against 9909 in 1886. The company controls 14,185 miles of wire, 2013 miles of which are underground. The average connections for the year are 312,605,710. The policy of extending underground wires will involve a large outlay in the future. Terminal facilities have been secured in Philadelphia and a long-line service between that city and New York will soon be established. The line for long-line service between New York and Boston will be completed during the present year. The Canadian Company has increased its net earnings from $158,000 last year to $190,565 this year. The treasurer's report was then read.

THE "FIENDS."

ROGUES' GALLERY OF TOUGHS
WHO INFEST THE CITY.Opium-smokers and Livers on the Wages of Sin—The Vilest Wretches on Earth—A Gang which the Police
Are Trying to Break Up.

The opium fiends—José Mascarell, J. Elias and Lizzie Lopez, alias Abbott—came up before Justice Austin yesterday afternoon for trial. The evidence against them was conclusive. Officer Bosqui, a reputable and hard-working officer, caught the creatures in the act. Of course the three testified against him, and had a preponderance of evidence, though not of respectability. They finally disagreed, four jurors wishing to turn the "fiends" loose, and the other eight voting to convict them. On the first ballot, in fact, there were nine for conviction.

As each demanded a separate jury trial, the case of Lizzie Lopez was the only one actually before the court.

AN INFAMOUS CLASS.

Like all large cities on the Pacific coast, Los Angeles is full of opium "fiends" and male creatures who live off of the earnings of the frail sisterhood. These people are constantly before the police court and are punished more or less severely. And yet they cling to their vicious ways, and seem to thrive and do well in their own peculiar way. They are always well-dressed, and when they are not "hitting the bamboo" they spend their time lounging about the streets, a la well-to-do gambler. Almost any afternoon they may be seen in two or three, posing in front of some cigar-stand on Spring or Main street. During their leisure hours they occupy themselves by passing remarks about ladies who may happen to be out shopping. In fact, some of them are so bold that a lady can hardly pass without being insulted. The present Chief of Police has made up his mind, and very properly, too, to rid this city of opium "fiends" if such a thing is possible. He has instructed his officers to camp on their trail, and if one can judge from the number of arrests that have been made of late, they are doing it. The police have made out a list of the beasts, and have looked up their records. The first one on the list is John Maloney. "This fiend" has smoked for years. He is a looking fellow, with the exception of that awful, death-like appearance which always follows the use of that terrible drug, opium. He is always well-dressed, and is known as one of the best "pill-rollers" on the coast. He has been before the police court in this city a number of times. He lives in Sonoratown, with a woman who has been with him for some time.

Bill Summersett has a history that would make the devil blush. His first adventure was in this city, some years ago, when he induced the wife of a railroad man to leave town with him. She gathered up all the money her husband had, some $1700, and gave it to Summersett. They only reached the depot, when the woman's friends put in an appearance, and she was captured. First fight "Bill" made his escape without a bruise, and succeeded in reaching the coast. But the officers were on his track, and, before he had had time to spend the money, he was arrested at Santa Monica and brought back to Los Angeles. The money was recovered, and Summersett succeeded in getting out of the scrape. His taste for living off with women grew, however, and it was but a short time when he left for San Francisco with a girl, and the next heard of him he was the chief actor in a terrible shooting scrape which ended in the immediate death of the poor girl who left this city with him. It seems that Summersett and the girl were walking down Kearny street, when they were met by J. Daniels. The two men drew their "guns" at once, and a number of shots were exchanged. One of the shots took effect in the girl's breast, and it was never known which one shot her. Summersett is now in this city, and is a hard smoker. He is about 29 years old and was raised in this city. His sisters, who are very respectable women, also live here.

William Abbott is a well-known character, and one of the lowest of the infamous brotherhood. He is well acquainted with the police court, and is before that tribunal every few days. He has been an opium fiend for the past five or six years, and is considered an expert with the bamboo. His arrests have been caused by opium-smoking, although he has been arrested once for arson, on a complaint which set forth that he set fire to "Mother" Brown's house in Los Angeles street. He was acquitted, but the lesson did not do him any good, for he kept up his evil ways, and is still on the downward grade. He has been in the city for a number of years, and several complaints are now out against him.

John Abbott, a younger brother of William, is also a hard case, and has quite a record as an opium fiend. His final companion, Matt Manners, was sent to the State Prison about a year ago, and he is now with her sister. He has been in several rows, and was shot in Bakersfield several years ago. He is a hard case, and is late, although the officers know that he is still the same opium fiend as of old.

Mike Ryan is a "fiend" of the most pronounced type, and lives with a woman named Nellie Fillingim. She is a hard case, and has been arrested for "rolling" a man who was under the influence of liquor. Ryan makes himself conspicuous on the streets by walking about with a little black and-tan dog in his arms. He is rather good-looking, and is what would be called a "masher."

Charley Patterson is very young in years, but old in sin. He is now under arrest for smoking opium, and is considered a hard case by the officers. He is supported by one of Abbott's former flames, who goes under the name of "old" Lizzie Abbott.

F. Mascarell comes from an old Spanish family. His folks are living in this city now, are quite well off, and are very respectable. His greatest sin is smoking opium and running with the Abbott brothers.

F. Clarkson is a "fiend," and is well known to the police. He also has a woman who looks after his dude clothes, and keeps him in opium and beer money.

José Elias is a hard smoker, and is a warm friend of Lizzie Abbott. He is very young, but he has been figuring in the police courts for a long time.

Tom Carroll is a San Francisco prize-fighter, who came down here about a year ago. He is an opium "fiend," and has been under the eye of the police force for a long time. He now lives on the corner of Ducommun and Aliso streets.

"Long" Smith is a tramp and opium "fiend," and has been here some time. He is not liked by the other "fiends," and travels on his own hook.

There are a number of other "fiends" in Los Angeles, and many of them have their parents living here. Every effort has been made to reform them, but they have become perfect slaves to the death-dealing habit, and the advice of their best friends goes for naught. As is usually the case, after the habit gets fixed, opium is their least crime.

Lynch on a Rampage.
Officer Dan Lynch has been living in a house on Alameda street below Georgia. Yesterday he discovered that the owner had sold the house and wanted him to move out. Dan, who is a good officer when sober, but a holy terror when drunk, got mad, and proceeded to wreck his vengeance on the house. He smashed the doors and windows, and made a pretty sorry wreck of the building. Chief Skinner, hearing of the riot, went to the spot and took Lynch to the police office, where he supposed that the commissioners will probably meet today and shave off Daniel's head.

Successfully treated by

M. HILTON WILLIAMS, M.D.,

M. C. P. S. O.

No. 275 North Main Street.

(Next Diamond House),

BY HIS NEW AND COMPLETE SYSTEM

Of Medicated Inhalations, combined with proper constitutional remedies for the Stomach, Liver and Blood, etc. Probably there has never been any system of practice so popular as one that has so completely revolutionized the system of medical practice as the Aerial or Inhalation System. For head, throat or lung affections. The cures effected are simply marvelous, and can be substantiated by the very best citizens of Los Angeles. During the past four years (our residence in Los Angeles) we have endeavored to be conscientious with our patients, and, upon examination, we find, in our judgment, the case to be of an incurable nature, we unhesitatingly inform the patient or friends. We believe this system to be justifiable and are ready to condemn any physician who would do otherwise.

CATARRH, ETC.

At times many of the symptoms of Catarrh may seem to abate, and the patient is led to hope that the disease is about to wear off; but another class of symptoms soon appears, and he learns to his horror that instead of recovery from the disease, it is somewhat changed in its character and has extended to the throat. A sense of weariness is sometimes felt in reading, speaking or singing; hoarseness at times occurs, a sensation of dryness is felt in the throat; it is as if a foreign substance, as, for instance, a hair, obstructed the throat; there becomes a sense of languor and fatigue, the breath becomes upon a little exertion, a short, hacking cough, a peculiar sound in clearing the throat, a feeling as though there was not room enough in the chest to breathe; there is made considerable progress. Then it is a time when consumption is about to begin its dreadful work. Up to this time the progress of the disease may have been slow, and the patient may, in expressing his confidence, hope that it will "wear off," declare that he has had the catarrh for years, and has not seemed to become much worse, and trusts that he will "by-and-by" recover. But this delusion is the grand error of a presumptuous form.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless unless both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities, which nothing else can do with the same success.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedies at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever. The very best references from those already cured.

CONSULTATION FREE.

Those who desire to consult with me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for consultation and examination, but, if impossible to do so, can write for a copy of my Medical Treatise, containing a list of questions. Address

We offer, as a free gift, 24 $300 lots to any one who will build a $30,000 hotel; also, one $300 lot to any purchaser of a lot who will build a $1250 house on ARLINGTON HEIGHTS.

The elevated plateau of ARLINGTON HEIGHTS terminates in a ridge or descent of 60 feet just south of Adams street, and in a similar ridge north of Pico street. On these ridges are located the most magnificent building sites in Los Angeles. No houses can ever be built high enough in front of them to obstruct the view of mountain, valley and ocean; from (Alhambra Island to San Jacinto Peak, and down again over the broad acres, orchards and vineyards, of fair Los Angeles Valley to the blue waves of the Pacific Ocean beyond the coast of Santa Monica. Whosoever wishes for a beautiful home, sheltered from the noise and bustle of a busy city, but within a twenty minutes' drive of the Plaza, should select in ARLINGTON HEIGHTS a lot of 5/8 acres whereon to build his house.

Our map shows a magnificent subdivision of it into 64-acre blocks, 60x280 feet, including 80, 90 or 100 feet wide. Investors who are able to appreciate the importance of a well-planned subdivision will foresee a great future to this tract with its miles of wide streets, intersecting each other at right angles. The elegant lawns and stately mansions of the rich will be found here within a short time, and purchasers who take advantage of our low prices an easy terms will reap a golden harvest of their investment in ARLINGTON HEIGHTS.

Two hundred lots for sale; price $100 upward; also, 50x120. Also, 5-acre lots at $2000 per acre, upward. Free ride daily at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. from
